The Department of Commerce planned movie showing of '12th Fail' on January 5th, 2024 turned out to be more than just an average cinematic experience for the pupils. The digital Media Committee's event not only entertained but also strongly resonated with the audience.

The Movie, made by a great young filmmaker, eloquently captures the highs and lows of the trip through high school. '12th Fail' captures the wide range of feelings that adolescents experience during this critical period in their life, touching on subjects such as friendship, love, academic pressure, and self-discovery.

What distinguishes this film is its relatability; students found themselves nodding along, smiling, and sometimes crying at scenes that echoed their own experiences. The characters were well-developed, with each reflecting a distinct aspect of high school life, making it simple for the viewer to relate with and empathize with them. The screening was followed by an interesting post-film conversation in which students were able to express their ideas and comments on the film. Many people liked the realistic representation of the difficulties they experience, and it served as a reminder that it's normal to stumble on the route to success.

The event effectively fostered a sense of camaraderie among the students, creating an atmosphere in which they felt comfortable addressing their personal worries and hopes. It also sparked a discussion about the significance of mental health, as the film dealt sensitively with the pressures and expectations that students frequently face during their academic careers.

This event was a success and a benefit to the students, thanks to the persistent efforts of faculty coordinators, and it inspired them to discover a purpose in life and strive for it.

On 19th March, 2024 The Digital Media Committee of The Commerce Department of Atmiya University hosted the "Trade Blitz Stock Trading Championship," a competition designed to simulate real-world trading scenarios and challenge participants to make strategic decisions in a competitive environment. The event aimed to provide students with practical insights into stock trading and financial decision-making, cultivate analytical, strategic thinking, and decision-making skills, and foster connections among students with similar interests and finance professionals. 18 students from various semesters participated; each allocated a simulated trading account with a starting capital.

The competition featured an intense trading session and awards ceremony. The top three teams were recognized for their exceptional strategy, performance, and resilience.

Participants and faculty members praised the championship as an invaluable learning experience and an excellent application of theoretical knowledge to practical scenarios. Activity Report

Objective:

The one-day workshop on Journalistic Writing, held on August 11, 2023, at A Wing, Seminar Hall 422, was organized with the primary aim of equipping Bachelor of Arts (BA) students with the essential skills and knowledge required for journalistic writing. The workshop sought to educate students on how to compose news bulletins effectively and write like proficient journalists, emphasizing the importance of language proficiency in the process.

The workshop commenced with an opening address by the department facilitator, creating an atmosphere of anticipation for students eager to delve into journalistic writing. Mr. Harsh Thaker, a distinguished figure in journalism, served as the guest speaker, imparting essential characteristics of good journalism and emphasizing ethical considerations. The session expanded students' perceptions of journalistic writing beyond its traditional confines, presenting it as a versatile skill applicable across various career paths. The interactive discussion with Mr. Thaker stimulated critical thinking, while a practical exercise, involving the creation of a news bulletin based on a current video, provided hands-on experience and immediate feedback. Overall, the workshop enriched students' understanding of journalistic principles and their practical applications in diverse professional contexts.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) refers to the simulation of human intelligence processes by computer systems. These processes include learning (the acquisition of information and rules for using the information), reasoning (using rules to reach approximate or definite conclusions), and self-correction. AI systems can be designed to perform tasks that would typically require human intelligence, such as visual perception, speech recognition, decision-making, and language translation.

In an enriching initiative aimed at enhancing the practical understanding of economic policies and financial literacy among students, the Department of Commerce at Atmiya University organized a live screening of the Union Budget presentation as on 1st February, 2024. This event provided a unique opportunity for commerce students to witness the annual financial statement being laid out by the Finance Minister Ms. Nirmala Sitharaman, fostering a direct engagement with the country's economic planning and fiscal strategy. The anticipation for the Union Budget screening was evident among the student community, especially given the volatile economic climate leading up to the budget announcement. To prepare the students for a comprehensive understanding, faculty guided the students for focusing on budget terminology, its components, and its significance to the economy and individual citizens.

The live screening was scheduled in the university's Various Classrooms for Entire Departmental students, which had been equipped with a projection screen and sound system to ensure an immersive viewing experience. The event began with an introductory speech by Dr Shivangi Oza, informing the students of the purpose of the event. The students were shown a movie, "12th Fail", about a boy from the village 'Chambal', who after getting inspired by a deputy inspector, dreams of becoming an officer as well. He is told to stop cheating and he does. He starts working hard and honestly. He faces many hardships but he does not give up. The students were asked to carefully observe the movie, its message and themes to learn from it and analyse it.

“Mumbai Dabbawalas are considered to be among the best logistics and supply chains in the world.” Faculty of Business and Commerce has organised Motivational Program-Zero to Hero Mumbai Dabbawala on 11th February, 2023.

The motivational Speakers were Mr. Ramdas B. Karvande- President of Mumbai Tiffin Box Suppliers and Mr. Ritesh S. Andre Spokesperson Mumbai Dabbawala.

According to Mr. Ritesh S. Andre, Mumbai's Dabbawala Army of 5,000 Dabbawalas has been feeding the city's over 200,000 residents with home-cooked food since 1890. He explained how they transport it everyday between their homes and workplaces using bicycles and local train networks. They readily transport 20 to 40 tiffin boxes for adjacent locations while carrying them on their heads and shoulders and have been conducting the same straightforward business in a faultless manner for many years.

He continued by saying that the "Dabbalid " contains three markings that are unique to their code. The speed and cadence of labour are determined by the railroads, the brief amount of time they have to load and unload ensures that the system is in sync. 20 seconds to offload and exactly 40 seconds to board the crates. Tight restrictions are upheld, particularly when a dabbawala repeatedly gets fined or fired for delivering late or keeping a customer waiting while they are eating lunch. Also, consumers that cause the lunchbox preparation to be delayed during pickup are removed from the list. This is how they operate and instruct students in management.

They are the finest in the world at logistics and supply chain management. More than 2000 students as well as faculties from different school and the universities along with students and faculties of Atmiya University attended in the program.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM ON SOLIDWORKS SOFTWARE

Brief of SDP:-

Department of Mechanical Engineering, Atmiya University & Khodiyar CAD Center (I) Pvt. Ltd., Rajkot has jointly organised 2 Days Workshop on Solidworks Software for 3rd & 5th Semester Degree Mechanical Engineering Students in the month of September, 2023. Total 25 students have participated with enthusiasm in this workshop which was arranged by Mechanical Engineering Department. Mr. Darshan Parmar - Application Engineer, Khodiyar CAD Center (I) Pvt. Ltd., Rajkot is the resource person for this workshop. Hands on exercise were carried out by students related to CAD during 2 days workshop.

About Solidworks Software:-

Solidworks is a mechanical design automation software package used to build parts, assemblies and drawings that takes advantage of the familiar microsoft windows graphical user interface. Solidworks is an easy to learn design and analysis tool, (Solidworks Simulation, Solidworks Motion, Solidworks Flow Simulation, Sustainability, etc.) which makes it possible for designers to quickly sketch 2D and 3D concepts, create 3D parts and assemblies and detail 2D drawings.

Objectives of Workshop:-

- To make students aware about importance and application of CAD Software.
- To understand and learn part modeling using sketch tools & features in CAD Software.
- To understand & learn assembly creation by making the use of mates for applying relation between 2 bodies in CAD Software.
- To participate in the design challenge competitions this motivates students to use their creativity and innovation to work on real-world problems.

Points Covered during Workshop:-

Part Modelling

Assembly Modelling

Drawing

Outcomes:-

After attending this workshop students will be able to:

- ✓ Gain good knowledge of CAD aspects by learning various sketch tools and features for 2D & 3D part modelling and learn various relations for assembly formation required for drawing sheet.
- ✓ Strengthen their design portfolio through CAD software.
- ✓ Utilize their knowledge for doing their final year projects.
- ✓ Participate in various competitions running for design internationally.

Activity Report

Objective:

The primary objective of the session was to impart knowledge on psychology and showcase a practical experiment so that the students can see and experience the results first hand.

On the first day, 1st February, 2024, the students were taught about various subjective topics of psychology. On the second day, 2nd February, 2024, a practical experiment was conducted on the basis of Trial and Error Theory. It proved the hypothesis that as the number of trials increase, the number of errors decrease. This theory is based on the daily learning method.

These sessions helped the students understand the Trial and Error Theory better as they had the chance to experience it and observe the results closely. This practical session will give the students a chance to enhance their academic performance.

Description: Capacity Building Program on Deep Learning

The Capacity Building Program on Deep Learning was a specialized initiative aimed at enhancing participants' knowledge and skills in the field of deep learning, a critical area of artificial intelligence (AI). The program focused on providing in-depth theoretical and practical understanding of deep learning algorithms, models, and their applications in various domains.

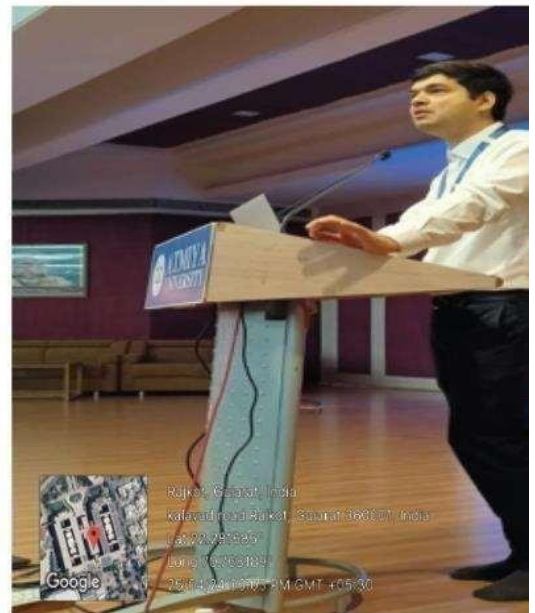

Throughout the program, participants engaged in hands-on sessions, working with popular deep learning frameworks and tools. Topics covered included neural networks, convolution neural networks (CNNs), and recurrent neural networks (RNNs), among others. By the end of the program, participants gained practical experience in developing and deploying deep learning models for real-world applications.

The training was designed for individuals looking to build their expertise in this rapidly evolving field, with an emphasis on research and development as well as industry applications.

Department of Mechanical Engineering, Atmiya University & Sopan Institute of Engineering & Design, Rajkot has jointly organised seminar on “Recent Trends in CAD/CAM” for 4th and 6th Semester Mechanical Students under IIC & ISTE Student Chapter in the month of March, 2023. Total 20 students have participated with enthusiasm in this workshop which was arranged by Mechanical Engineering Department. Mr. Ketan Mistry (Technical Expert in CAM) & 2) Mr. Mitul Patel (Senior Application Engineer), Sopan Institute of Engineering & Design, Rajkot is the resource person for this seminar.

About ESPRIT CAM Software:-

In the race to add technical features to CAM software in support of rapid advancements in machine tool technology, the CAM software industry tends to overlook the importance of the customer experience. Well-designed CAM software should make a CNC programmer more productive, not less. Long-term gains in productivity require a three-pronged approach to CAM software development. First, build the CAM system on a strong foundation of machining intelligence garnered from decades of real-world experience with modern machining methods. Second, simplify the way users interact with the software to get reliable results with less effort. And third, harness the raw processing power of modern computers to compute tool path in significantly less time. ESPRIT brings the customer experience to the forefront by focusing on creating CAM software that is smarter, simpler, and faster to use.

Objectives of Workshop:-

- To make students aware about ESPRIT CAM Software.
- To understand & learn the various modules in Solidworks software.
- To understand the scope of CAD & CAM in manufacturing industries and gain the knowledge of ESPRIT CAM Software use for Milling, Turning & Turn-Mill Machines.
- To participate in the Design Challenge Competitions this motivates students to use their creativity and innovation to work on real-world problems.

Points Covered during Seminar:-

Part Modelling

Assembly Modelling

Surface Modeling, Mold tool

Simulation

Manufacturing (ESPRIT CAM Live Demonstration)

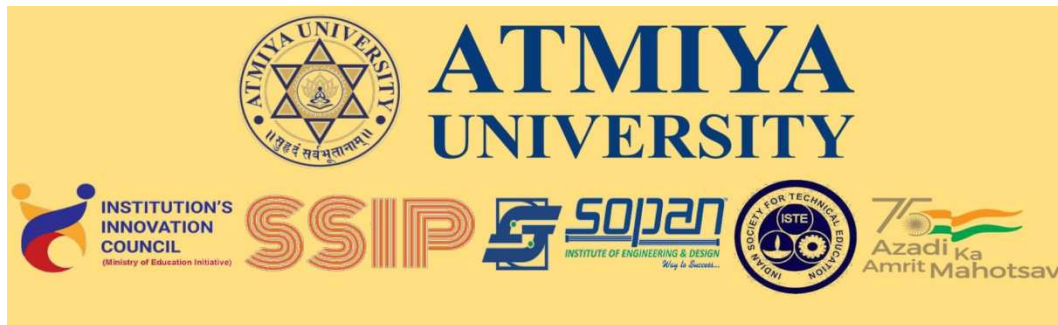

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM ON RECENT TRENDS IN CAD/CAM

Outcomes:-

Edutainment Week

Organised by English Department
from 5th July, 2021 to 10th July, 2021

OVERVIEW: - 'Edutainment' is the new buzz word today, as contemporary learning aims to go hand in hand with fun and entertainment as well. In order to boost the morale of the students during the pandemic and to ensure that they gain knowledge while having fun, the Department of English organized an 'Edutainment Week'. An entire week full of different activities was planned in Virtual Mode where the students participated with great gusto and enthusiasm.

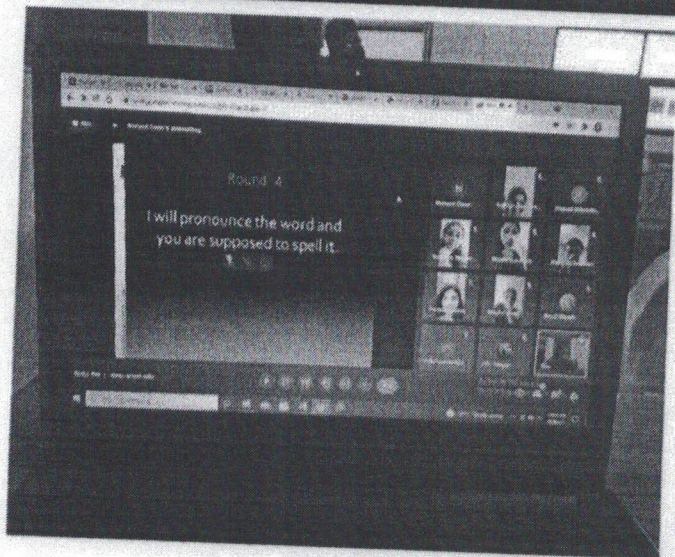

The activities planned were from a wide array of areas including Quiz Competition, Spell Bee Competition, Funtakshari and a rather innovative event where the students had to cook any food item without using any kind of fuel, in a total organic manner.

Such activities helped the students gain new knowledge and also tackle the stress induced by the pandemic.

Introduction

A steel structure workshop for a Civil Engineering Department serves as an essential facility for hands-on training, research, and project development. This report outlines the design principles, material considerations, structural analysis, and practical aspects of constructing such a workshop.

Objectives

- Provide a functional space for practical learning and experimentation.
- Ensure safety and compliance with relevant building standards.
- Incorporate sustainable and cost-effective design practices.

Site Analysis

Location

The workshop is to be located within the campus of the Civil Engineering Department. The chosen site should be easily accessible, with sufficient space for the construction and future expansion.

Geotechnical Assessment

A thorough geotechnical survey is necessary to understand soil properties and foundation requirements. Factors such as soil bearing capacity, water table level, and potential seismic activity must be considered.

Material Properties

Steel Selection

- Grade: Choose appropriate steel grades (e.g., ASTM A36, A992) based on strength, ductility, and weldability.
- Corrosion Resistance: Use galvanization or weathering steel for increased durability in various environmental conditions.

Sustainability

Incorporate recycled steel to enhance sustainability. Consider the life cycle of materials and design for disassembly to facilitate future recycling.

Design Standards and Codes

American Institute of Steel Construction (AISC)

AISC standards will guide the design, fabrication, and erection of the workshop structure, ensuring compliance with safety and performance requirements.

Local Building Codes

Adhere to local building regulations and codes, which may include fire safety, accessibility, and environmental impact considerations.

Structural Analysis and Design Principles

Load Considerations

- Dead Loads: Weight of the structural elements, roofing, flooring, and permanent fixtures.
- Live Loads: Loads from equipment, machinery, and occupants. Consider dynamic loads from moving machinery.

- Environmental Loads: Wind, snow, and seismic forces based on local climatic and geological data.

Structural Elements

- Frame: Use a portal frame structure for wide, open spaces without intermediate columns, enhancing flexibility for various activities.
- Beams and Columns: Design beams and columns to carry and transfer loads efficiently. Optimize cross-sectional dimensions to balance strength and material economy.
- Roof Trusses: Implement trusses to support the roof while minimizing material usage and weight.
- Foundations: Design foundations to accommodate the soil bearing capacity and load distribution.

Connections

- Bolted Connections: Use high-strength bolts for ease of assembly and future modification.
- Welded Connections: Where necessary, implement welded connections for strength and rigidity, especially in critical load-bearing areas.

Design Methods

Load and Resistance Factor Design (LRFD)

Adopt LRFD methodology to ensure a robust safety margin by applying factors to account for uncertainties in loads and material strengths.

Practical Considerations

Constructability

- Prefabrication: Utilize prefabricated steel components to streamline the construction process and reduce on-site labor.
- Erection Plan: Develop a detailed erection plan to ensure safe and efficient assembly of the steel structure.

Fire Protection

Implement fire protection measures such as intumescent coatings and fireproof cladding to maintain structural integrity during a fire.

Ventilation and Lighting

Design for natural ventilation and lighting to create a comfortable working environment and reduce energy consumption. Incorporate skylights and large windows where feasible.

Detailed Design Process

Initial Planning

- Needs Assessment: Identify the specific requirements of the workshop, including space allocation for different activities (e.g., welding, material testing, storage).
- Conceptual Design: Develop initial layouts and architectural plans, including the positioning of structural elements and access points.

Structural Analysis

- Modeling: Create a detailed structural model using software like SAP2000 or ETABS to simulate loads and stresses.
- Load Calculations: Perform detailed calculations for dead, live, and environmental loads.
- Design Optimization: Iterate the design to optimize material usage while meeting all safety and performance criteria.

Final Design

- Detailed Drawings: Prepare comprehensive drawings for all structural components, connections, and foundations.
- Specifications: Compile detailed specifications for materials, fabrication, and construction processes.

Construction

- Fabrication: Manufacture steel components as per detailed designs and specifications.
- Erection: Assemble the steel structure on-site, following the erection plan and ensuring compliance with safety protocols.
- Inspection: Conduct thorough inspections at each stage of construction to verify adherence to design and quality standards.

INTRODUCTION TO ANDROID AND ANDROID STUDIO

Alumni:

We invited Aakash Patel for alumni expert talk with the Android club.

INTRODUCTION:

Android workshop was an activity workshop (Computer Engineering Department) wherein students were taught to design and develop meaningful android application that can be utilized in real environment. The students also shared their knowledge about new improvements or updates in android platform if encountered by them.

Android has been the best-selling OS worldwide on smartphones since 2011 and on tablets since 2013. As of May 2017, it has over two billion monthly active users, the largest installed base of any operating system, and as of June 2018, the Google Play store features over 3.3 million apps.

A project in Android Studio contains everything that defines your workspace for an app, from source code and assets, to test code and build configurations. When you start a new project, Android Studio creates the necessary structure for all your files and makes them visible in the Project window on the left side of the IDE (click View > Tool Windows > Project). By default, Android Studio displays your project files in the Android view. This view does not reflect the actual file hierarchy on disk, but is organized by modules and file types to simplify navigation between key source files of your project To change various settings for your Android Studio project, open the Project Structure dialog by clicking File > Project Structure. It contains the following sections:

- SDK Location: Sets the location of the JDK, Android SDK, and Android NDK that your project uses.
- Project: Sets the version for Gradle and the Android plugin for Gradle, and the repository location name.
- Developer Services: Contains settings for Android Studio add-in components from Google or other third parties. See Developer Services, below.
- Modules: Allows you to edit module-specific build configurations, including the target and minimum SDK, the app signature, and library dependencies
